<https://www.qld.gov.au/law/your-rights/consumer-rights-complaints-and-scams/product-safety-for-consumers/safety-advice-and-warnings/around-the-home/button-batteries>

As of 22 June 2022, businesses that supply button or coin batteries, or products containing button or coin batteries, in Australia must comply with these standards.

The new safety and information standards require manufacturers to:

- Create secure compartments so children can't access the batteries.
- Conduct compliance testing to ensure the battery is secure.
- Provide child resistant packaging for button batteries.
- Place warning labels and alerts on products that contain button batteries, including on packaging and instructions.
